Biography

Matthew L. Anderson has built a commercial litigation practice focused on real property, secured lending and corporate disputes, representing clients in transactions, negotiations and litigation. Matt negotiates for clients in leasing disputes and secured lending agreements on behalf of both creditors with defaulting borrowers and debtors in need of restructuring. When insolvency becomes an issue, Matt is experienced in representing creditors in bankruptcy proceedings. In handling complex cases, Matt is able to draw upon the expertise of other Fabian VanCott attorneys skilled in the firm's core competency areas. Matt additionally works for real estate clients in cases involving easements, title, foreclosure, landlord/tenant, liens foreclosure and construction. Prior to practicing law, Matt worked as Area Director on Mike Leavitt's campaign for Governor of Utah and then as Director of Constituent Affairs for the Governor's Office. He has stayed involved in the political realm by assisting clients in their relations with the state legislature and is on the planning commission for his city. Matt is active in the Utah State Bar, currently chairing the Member Benefits Committee and as past chair of the Real Estate Section. He graduated with honors from the University of Utah and earned his law degree at Columbia, where he was a Harlan Fiske Stone Scholar. After law school, he clerked for the Utah Supreme Court.

Representative Projects

Matt has represented both sides in secured loan transactions that are in default (if the client is the lender) or in need of restructuring (if the client is the debtor). When negotiations fail, Matt has extensive experience in litigating until judgment, payment or bankruptcy.

With respect to real property litigation, Matt has represented clients in easement disputes, quiet title actions, title insurance claims and foreclosures. He has also successfully represented landlords in commercial landlord/tenant disputes. Clients have relied on Matt to prosecute and defend mechanic's lien and other construction related disputes.

Matt represents large and small companies, public and private, in commercial litigation including corporate governance, licensing, intellectual property and other contractual disputes.

In the practice of Bankruptcy, Matt has represented creditors in obtaining relief from stay/adequate protection payments for large secured creditors. He has also defended a large construction company in a complex involuntary bankruptcy case. The breadth of his bankruptcy experience includes having represented a Chapter 7 trustee in adversary proceedings involving preferences, fraudulent transfers and other exercises of the trustee's strong-arm powers.

During the legislative session and the 10 months preceding it, Matt represented a select group of national and local clients in furthering their cause before the state legislature.

Matt has also established a unique expertise representing clients before the Utah Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control.
