Biography

Amy has experience drafting and prosecuting patent applications with an emphasis on medical devices, mechanical devices, electronics, and software. By providing legal advice to clients and interacting with patent examiners at the United States Patent and Trademark Office, she pursues her passion of helping clients achieve their intellectual property goals. She also has experience in preparation, filing, and prosecution of U.S. trademarks.

Amy holds a Masters from Stanford in Mechanical Engineering with an emphasis in Biomechanics and a Juris Doctorate from Brigham Young University. Her experience includes managing a patent portfolio of 100+ patents for a growing tech company in California as well as the successful acquisition of the company. Before joining the firm, she worked as a patent attorney for top firms in Utah.
