

KEVIN N. ANDERSON

Attorney / Partner | Salt Lake City

Licensure: NV, UT, OH, DC

Biography

Business disputes can be very complex. Kevin Anderson has the professional experience and resources available at Fabian VanCott to assist clients in complex litigation cases when they are facing difficult problems or have already faced defeat.

Kevin is one of Fabian VanCott's most experienced trial attorneys with over 40 years of litigation experience in state and federal courts, arbitration, mediation, and administrative forums. Kevin has prevailed in highly publicized cases against the NCAA and the FBI.

He has handled many cases in Utah, Nevada, Ohio, and other jurisdictions, involving a variety of complex commercial contract disputes, force majeure, ownership disputes in closely held businesses, fiduciary relationships, defense of reputation and corporate image, securities fraud, banking, real-estate transactions, and intellectual property.

Kevin is also an active mediator and arbitrator.

Kevin graduated from Georgetown University Law Center and is admitted to practice in Utah, Nevada, the District of Columbia, Ohio, the 9th, 10th and District of Columbia U.S. Circuit Courts of Appeal, and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Professional History

In addition to the litigation discussed above, Kevin has handled cases eminent domain and condemnation, securities fraud, insurance coverage and benefits, banking, real estate transactions, employment agreements and alleged breaches of covenants not to compete, and Indian law.

Kevin has been involved in all aspects of litigation, arbitration, mediation, and settlement negotiations. For example, Kevin led a team of Fabian VanCott attorneys in representing the co-owner of Crandall Canyon Mine in connection with catastrophic events at the Mine in August 2007, in the court room, with the press, and with governmental authorities. As lead attorney, Kevin conducted negotiations involving multiple plaintiffs, insurance companies, and co-defendants to reach a settlement of all claims for all parties in less than two years. Kevin also assisted with investigations by the Mine Safety and Health Administration, Federal Mine Safety and Health Review Commission, several Congressional committees, Department of Labor, Utah Mine Safety Commission, and other government agencies.

Kevin has handled employment related matters including conducting internal investigations and actions involving breach of employment contracts, breach of implied employment contracts, recovery of unpaid wages, compensation, severance pay, and other general compensatory and consequential damages.

Kevin has analyzed, litigated, mediated and been a neutral and party-appointed arbitrator in cases in Utah, Nevada, and other jurisdictions. He has been involved in contract negotiations and renegotiation. He represented the University of North Dakota against the NCAA's attempt to stop it from using its "Fighting Sioux" nickname and logo. Kevin prevented the FBI from gaining access to top-secret government documents leaked to his father, Jack Anderson. Other cases have involved performance of technology sharing agreements, commercial lease disputes, fraud, and the enforcement of alleged verbal agreements. Kevin has analyzed and litigated numerous claims of force majeure under
